We have received reports that New York/New Jersey's Maher Terminal is experiencing considerable delays for trucks entering and leaving the port today. Maher has been suffering from delays caused by the implementation of a new operating system. Today's delays have been intensified by the advent of the holiday weekend - customers looking to complete logistics transactions before they themselves close for the holiday.

Please contact your local sales representative, local Pacer International/Ocean World Lines office or OWL Network Partner if you have any questions.
