We continue to receive reports that New York/New Jersey's Maher Terminal is still experiencing delays in processing cargo. Maher has been suffering from delays caused by the implementation of a new operating system. We continue to keep affected customers up-to-date on the status of their shipments but if you have a consignment you have a particular concern about then please don't hesitate to contact your local Pacer International/Ocean World Lines office or OWL Network Partner if you have any questions.
